There Never Was an Armistice Against Godliness

MARK PEACE ANNIVERSARY

Ohioans, However, Turn Thoughts Towards Steps For Defense

(By Associated Press)

Ohioans observed the 23rd anniversary of the World war armistice today by concentrating on the defense of the United States anew.

Gilbert Bettman, Ohio supreme court judge and former state American Legion commander, asserted in an address prepared for Armistice day exercises at Springfield that the present war "is the age-old contest between good and evil; and right in the end must triumph."

He urged all Americans to unite behind the Legion's four-point program calling for repeal of the neutrality act, support for the foreign policy of the President and congress, opposition to the forces of Nazism and adherence to "freedom of the seas as the traditional policy of the United States."

The program "should satisfy the materialist because it protects the property rights of American citizens," he said. "What is more important, it should satisfy the idealist because it stands for the right."

The isolationist of the Senator Taft philosophy is merely placing himself in a sham shelter made of wishful thinking," Bettman continued. "Every newspaper in American," he said, "is a newspaper in American," he said

EASY ON FINLAND

The way the diplomats are shoving around Finland shows scant consideration for that pine-knotch little country's past record. Admittedly, the Finns are on a hot spot right now because they're fighting Russia when Americans are supposed to think the Russians are nice people all of a sudden.

But the Finns did what everybody is supposed to do against the day when trouble comes. They kept their credit good. They paid their debt installments to the United States. If now they are told in effect that honesty didn't pay and that they are entitled to no more consideration than, say, Italy just because they are fighting on the wrong side temporarily, business ethics will be set back 500 years, maybe a thousand.

LITVINOV'S ON THE OTHER FOOT

If people who don't sow the foreign policy whirlwinds but merely reap them get a little cynical about international understandings the statesmen must try to be sympathetic. It must tax even their imaginations to keep abreast of the sudden shifts and naked reverses staged by their various governments.

Certainly it is interesting for Americans to know that Maxim Litvinov, formerly Russia's foreign commissar and ace collective security advocate, has been restored to favor in Moscow and soon will arrive in Washington as a full-fledged ambassador to promote Russo-American friendship. That was his mission some years ago on a previous journey to Washington.

When his government decided to let itself be betrayed by Germany, or perhaps it was the other way around—which is Germany's story—Litvinov abruptly went out of fashion. But now the Litvinov's on the other foot, Russia and (spare the mark) the United States are both intensely interested in collective security all of a sudden. No one needs to ask why: the horse having been stolen it's time to lock the barn door.

CONTINUING THE ARGUMENT

Real Admiral Harry E. Yarnell, U. S. navy, retired, has painted a dark picture of Britain's royal air force in Collier's, with the purpose of showing that its R. A. F. has been inefficient and blundering, except in the battle of Britain, the fault may not have been with its independent status. There is one air force that has been exceedingly efficient, the German, and it happens to be independent, too. Perhaps in some future article Admiral Yarnell may explain how the Germans surmounted the handicap of an independent air force. He might even reach the conclusion, reached long ago by taxpayers, that the admirals and generals really don't know what they're talking about when they discuss aviation. It's like that old discussion about bombers and battleships; while the theorists were chewing the rag, their argument was being settled for them by men of action.

LOOKING AHEAD

There is no special shame any more in admitting that Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey is a national institution, like Bell Telephone, General Motors, Chrysler Motor Corp. and the Ford Co. If anything happened to make the world look bleak for the last three, it would be discussed frankly.

Indeed, it is the wish of every newspaperman who ever gave the biggest show on earth gratuitous publicity plug that something will be done about the elephants, come next spring. For years it has been one of the privileges of life in free society to walk down that seemingly endless line of odoriferous pachyderms, each one looking just as formidable and scarious as the next one, and marvel that any circus, even the biggest one, would go to the trouble to haul around all those elephants.

It was the popular impression, rarely checked by actual count, that there were 50 in all. In the poisoning tragedy in Alabama at least eight of the big beasts were gathered to their reward, and one story speaks vaguely of the "herd of 40" close elephants. Naturally, this will be watched closely next season by the curious thousands, who hope there will be an even 50 as advertised, even if John Ringling North and a couple of roustabouts have to spend each afternoon and evening inside an old elephant skin.

PROOF IN THE EATING

Conclusion jumpers who have been too quick to act still can't believe that aerial bombing isn't likely to be the deciding factor in the war. Yet, the evidence on that point of view is still increasing.

In what probably was their heaviest raid of the war the British admit the loss of 37 bombers. It 250,000 be taken as a reasonable base cost estimate. Bomber, delivered and ready to spread destruction, one night's raiding operations cost $9,250,000. To that figure must be added damage to other ships and whatever further losses may be concealed in the official figure.

Military experts were estimating a year ago that Germany's attempt to blast Britain into surrender cost, up to the early part of October, at least 6,500 planes with a value of half a billion dollars, plus no less than 13,000 aviators. But Britain wasn't forced to surrender and, a year later, is spending men and planes to do what the Germans, with more men and planes than the British can muster, weren't able to do.

Meanwhile it has been surmised by the guessers that the best chance of being right that Germany has abandoned the theory that the war can be won from the air; that it launched the Russian campaign to immobilize the Red army preparatory to an attempt to launch an invasion; that if the British think they can bring Germany to its knees by dropping bombs on it they probably are going to share the same surprise the Germans received when the British rose up out of the rubble more determined and full of fight than ever.

THE STARS SAY:

For Wednesday, November 12

A DIFFICULT DAY with many and surprising adversities and obstructions is the augury based on the predominant lunar and mutual aspects. A vague, erratic, as well as surprising and stubborn state of affairs may challenge to most constructive and ingenious policies. With this there is promise of help and cooperation from high and influential places which may assist in breaking down very determined opposition, coming from elders, or superiors as well as enemies.

Those whose birthday it is while having many adverse and devastating situations to cleverly dispose of have some hopes of success and fair fortunes. But such materialize by well-ordered, restrained and wise conduct rather than wayward, erratic, impulsive and chaotic behavior. With control and sound tactics real friends may prove reliable when others may be bitterly antagonistic.

A child born on this day may need very early and rigorous training and discipline due to its high nervous temperament.

WHEAT HORDE HITS RECORD

CHICAGO, Nov. 11—Uncle Sam's hoard of wheat was at an all-time peak today and growing steadily in preparation for the day when a world clamoring for food can get it.

Approximately 500,000,000 bushels, valued at more than half a billion dollars, either are owned outright by the United States government through its financing agency or held as collateral on pending loans. Before the year ends grain men expect at least another 50,000,000 bushels will be added.

Meanwhile it has been surmised by the guessers that the best chance of being right that Germany has abandoned the theory that the war can be won from the air; that it launched the Russian campaign to immobilize the Red army preparatory to an attempt to launch an invasion; that if the British think they

ELIMINATE UNFIT IN ARMY SELECTIONS

Medical Men Act to Curb Unnecessary Pensions

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

The responsibility of the medical draft boards in eliminating the unfit for military service extends beyond the selection of physically perfect specimens. They must also his mates, was removed to an army hospital where he beat up the ward attendants, and finally required the time of a medical officer and two enlisted men to take him to the Letterman General hospital.

Most of the psychotic applicants get by because they don't realize their own condition and because in civil life there is not enough stress to bring out their weaknesses.

The types to be eliminated are nomads, pathological liars, the emotionally unstable drifters from one job to another, inadequates, egomaniacs, hypochondriacs, dependents with "WPA attitude," or on "relief" attitude, those who expect to be taken care of always by a strong individual or agency.

The Mask of Sanity

They are not always easy to detect because so many have "The Mask of Sanity," described thus by Dr. Cheekley:

1. Superficial attractiveness, cleverness, facility in talking, apparent intelligence. The facade personality.

2. Continual projection of blame on somebody else.

3. Tremendous egotism, with practically no capacity for objective love.

4. Double-crossing, playing of one friend against another.

5. Very frequent prominence of excessive drinking, with bizarre and preposterous conduct while drinking.

6. Histrionic personality, always acting, never genuine.

The army, however, does not need all bright boys. There are many army tasks best done by morons and there is as large place for those of low intelligence (without viciousness) in the army as elsewhere.

Some mistakes are inexcusable. A California board certified a man who was in jail as a homicidal maniac. He was released, and after entering the army beat up some of

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

A. J. B.: If there are four types of blood and a person always have that type or does it change with age? Can diet change it?

Answer: The types of blood you describe have to do with characteristics that are important only for blood transfusion. All such types of blood are equally good for physiological purposes. Neither age nor diet changes a person's grouping.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Dr. Cledening has seven pamphlets which can be obtained by readers. Each pamphlet sells for 10 cents. For any one pamphlet desired, send 10 cents in coin, and a self-addressed envelope stamped with a three-cent stamp, to Dr. Logan Cledening, 235 E. 45th st., New York. The pamphlets are: "Three Weeks" Reducing Diet," "Indigestion and Constipation," "Reducing and Gaining," "Infant Feeding," "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes," "Feminine Hygiene," and "The Care of the Hair and Skin."

FORT PECK, Mont.—Seedling operations on the downstream slope of huge Fort Peck dam, largest earth-filled structure in the world, is under way. Total area to be planted is about 500 acres. 'Toy Gun' Is Loaded

When Robert Meyer, 2, toddled into the bank where his mother was making a deposit and brandished a gun, everyone thought the revolver was a toy. Later, near the Meyers' home in Brooklyn, N. Y., a neighbor noticed the child's toy was actually a loaded .38 revolver. How the boy obtained it is still a mystery but police believe a gunman dumped it in his stroller outside the bank. (P.S. Mother will recover.)

SENATE STENOGRAPHER

by MAXWELL THAYER

Joe dove in, boots and all, to rescue Gale.

said with emphasis. "Is there anything we can get you?"

Gale wanted nothing except to get out of the itching bathing suit but Joe kept his place beside her bed when the women left.

He took her hand in his large, warm one. "I wish that fool doctor would get here. Phoned him long ago."

"Hang the doctor," replied Gale. "I want to get out of this bed, and this suit." And then she noticed for the first time that his clothes were wet. "You rescued me?"

"If you could call it that. All I did was jump in and fish you out."

"Thanks. I do appreciate it," she replied, and she noticed again how nice his smile was. "But please go away now and get into some clothes. In the meantime, I'll get up."

"All right, if you insist. I'll send the maid up to help you, and when the doctor comes I want him to look at that crack on the head. You hit pretty hard." He went to the door. "We've got to take care of you." Then he was gone.

Gale pulled back the covers, sat up on the edge of the bed and rubbed a large bump on her head gingerly. It was sore—sore as a boil—but what the heck, it was worth it to have all this attention from Joe Nash. Dorgone, he was good looking..... hmmm.... perhaps handsome.

There was a knock on the door, and a maid entered.

"I heard about the accident, Miss," she said. "May I help you?"

Gale stood up and swayed a little on her feet. The maid steadied her. "Guess I'll need a little help at that." She lowered her head, pointing to her bump. "That's sore!"

Then she walked to the dressing table and tried to see the bump without success. The maid finally held a hand mirror for her to see.

"Not so big, is it?"

"Pretty big," replied the maid.

"Well, I guess I'll live. Anyway, I want a shower. This suit has about given me the seven-year itch."

As the maid prepared the shower in an adjoining room, Gale stripped off the suit. "Make it hot," she called.

With alternating hot and cold showers, Gale's spirits revived.

Then she came out, wrapped in a towel larger than she was, the maid told her to lie down and relax, and she would give her a quick oil rub.

Gale complied, and immediately began to feel that this was the true way to enjoy life. She was like a

"just be quiet." Joe's soft, deep voice broke in. "You're going to be all right now. How do you feel?"

"Kinda rocky," she replied.

"I'll let you go," Joe replied.

"Anyone would. Just lie still, the doctor will be here in a few minutes."

Gale protested she didn't want a doctor out. Nan Parkson broke in, insisting.

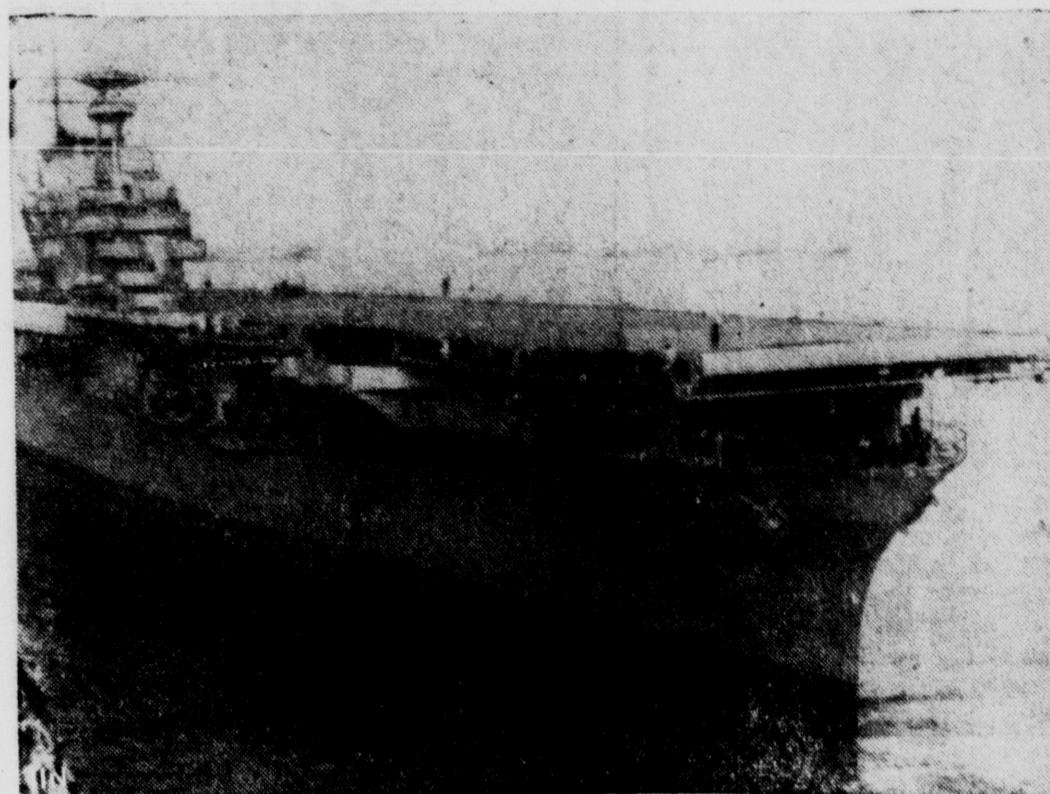

"You must have him look you over, dear," she said. "This has been a shock to you. I'm terribly sorry that such a thing should happen at my home."

"Accidents will happen," Gale answered and made an attempt to smile.

"Accident, my eye!" exclaimed Nan and then said no more, for Nan had squeezed her arm.

"I think we'll go downstairs," Nan

LITTLE CHATS ON PUBLIC NOTICES

By J. E. Pollard, Journalism Professor,
Ohio State University

Staking Out Claims

Every one knows what is meant by staking out a claim. Often used in the figurative sense, it also has many practical applications although less so in modern times than in pioneer days. To stake out a claim is to post a Notice by marking one's claim to some kind of property for all the world to see.

(Copyright, 1941, by J. E. Pollard)

ROCKLAND, Me.—When the World war ended Isidor Gordon of this town invested some of his savings in surplus army materials—3,000 curlycombs. He now has found a market for them in China.

Different types are "staked out" legally in various ways. A copyright mark or a patent label are two kinds. The branding of cattle is another. Even the marking of linen or of other personal belongings is not only for identification but, if need be, to help establish one's right and title thereto. A "No Trespassing" sign is another familiar kind of Notice that helps to preserve a property right. A certain New York corporation attorney one day a year puts up such a sign across the road into his Maine summer property and thus prevents the creation of a public easement.

In the morning, Vern R. Cahill, associate in the meat laboratories at Ohio State university, will demonstrate the cutting of beef and pork. Housewives interested in learning how to buy various cuts of meat will not want to miss this demonstration. Farmers having their own beef and pork will also want to attend to see the most efficient methods now used in butchering.

In the afternoon, Vern R. Cahill, associate in the meat laboratories at Ohio State university, will demonstrate the cutting of beef and pork. Housewives interested in learning how to buy various cuts of meat will not want to miss this demonstration. Farmers having their own beef and pork will also want to attend to see the most efficient methods now used in butchering.

In a sense, all public notices are either part of the process of staking out some kind of legal claim to a right or of exercising one already held, or they serve to safeguard rights and claims previously staked out. Insofar as they are made public and indicate plainly the rights involved and the parties affected within reasonable time limits, they are as real and as vital as though they were actually stakes. The newspaper of general circulation is the most fertile ground for such purposes.

ST. LOUIS—Chaplain Ray L. Allen at Jefferson Barracks paid $3 to himself and thus kept the military police from becoming confused. Allen was tagged for parking his car in the wrong space. But according to the regulations, all fines from traffic violations go to the chaplain's fund. Allen contendend he was wrongfully tagged, but paid the fine cheerfully.

Missing Automobile Titles On Way Back To Columbus

FIXING OF PARITY PRICES DISCUSSED

National Chairman Cites Farm Existence In Asking for Revision

COLUMBUS, Nov. 11.—For the second time a package of duplicate automobile titles is on its way to the Ohio Bureau of Motor Vehicles, sent from Canton by Clerk of Courts C. Frank Sherrard for recording with other dusty archives. And both Sherrard and officials of the vehicle bureau hope the package arrives this time!

Sherrard wrapped up the titles—about 130 of them representing counts—from whence it had originated a month ago.

So Sherrard is trying once more to turn the bills over to the bureau of motor vehicles.

So Sherrard is trying once more to turn the bills over to the bureau of motor vehicles.

Sherrard knew the package had been sent and checking with the express company, he discovered the package had been delivered and the company had a signed receipt to prove it!

It looked for the moment as if the Columbus bureau would have to look hurriedly for an excuse, when Mrs. Jean Goodall of North Canton unexpectedly walked into Sherrard's office and handed him the missing package.

Sister Charlene, a supervisor at St. Mary of the Springs, a Columbian girls' school, supplied the rest of the story:

Official Soviet advisors said German troops captured recently in a 40-day-old battle before Moscow showed signs of utter exhaustion.

Nazis Kill Own Soldiers

In a side phase of the bloody Russo-German struggle, the Norwegian telegraph agency reported from London that hundreds of German soldiers were blown to pieces when Nazi torpedo boats, hunting down a submarine which had sunk two German transports of the coast of Norway, dropped depth charges among troops in the water.

The agency said fewer than 200 of 3,000 Germans aboard the torpedoed liners were rescued by a Norwegian ship which reached the scene shortly after the torpedo attack.

Another fault of present parity computation methods, Holman concluded, was that they freeze pre-relationships between communities at the 1910-1914 level.

For this reason, Holman urged modernizing of the base period suggesting 1931-1940 primarily because they constituted the latest 10-year period.

TOKYO DISCUSSES CHURCHILL'S STALK

British Ambassador Calls At Foreign Office On London's Order

(By Associated Press) TOKYO, Nov. 11.—The British ambassador, Sir Robert Leslie Craigie, called at the foreign office today on a visit which diplomatic sources said was for discussion of Prime Minister Churchill's statement that Britain would declare war on Japan within a week if Japan should go to war with the United States.

Sir Robert's call, evidently upon instruction from London, was made apparently as soon as possible after delivery of the Churchill warning, which came late night. Tokyo time.

Differ in Interpretation

Ken Ishii, the cabinet's official spokesman, discounted the Churchill declaration as an expected warning, but Domen, news agency said close official connections, said it was extremely significant.

Domen considered Churchill's warning important in view of the impending arrival of Saburo Kurusu, Japanese special envoy, in Washington to discuss the Pacific crisis, and in view of the extraordinary session of the Japanese parliament which opens Saturday. The Churchill speech, according to Domen, indicates a closer collaboration between Britain and the United States, particularly significant in the light of the Churchill-Roosevelt conference on the Atlantic.

Domen observed that unless Britain and the United States take into account the "new situation" in the Orient and Japan's plans for a new order in eastern Asia, the Washington talks cannot from their standpoint be considered.

It was declared Churchill was only following the example of U.S. Navy Secretary Knox, who said the British would enter within 24 hours, except that he implied it a bit.

Japan Prepared

In Shanghai, Lieut.-Col. Kuniaki Aoyama, spokesman for the Japanese armies in China, declared Churchill's statement could only be interpreted as a challenge to Japan and said that if the latest Washington-Tokyo negotiations ended, Japan was prepared for the worst.

British and American circles in Shanghai, however, said the Churchill speech was well-timed amid the growing crisis and would cause many Japanese to reconsider the situation seriously.

The Tokyo newspaper Nichi Nichi asserted that Churchill had thrown off the mask" and was trying to get the United States into war with Japan," estimated the Britain's naval strength in the Far East was not more than 10 per cent of Japan's. By implication, its left 90 per cent of any war effort up to the United States satelite fleet in the Pacific.

The newspaper Asahi carried a dispatch from Melbourne, Australia, asserting that Sir Alan Page, former Australian secretary of commerce, had conferred with officials in London on a secret mission to prepare joint defense tactics with the U.S. navy in the event of war in the Pacific.

A Yunnan dispatch from Harbin said Soviet frontier garrisons in Siberia were strengthening their fortifications—another sidebar on the whole uneasy situation in the Far East.

Says Propaganda Blacks Out Facts

(By Associated Press) WASHINGTON, Nov. 11—Declaring revision of the neutrality act would destroy the Roosevelt administration's own program for peace, Representative Jones (R-Ohio) said in a house speech that "propaganda agencies black out the facts."

The President said in 1936, Jones declared, that a new war would cause thousands of Americans seeking immediate riches—fool's gold—to attempt to break down or evade it.

The administration now changes its mind. Today, it is counting noses and pleading with its members in the house of representatives to destroy its own handiwork, its own creation.

The Washington administration pleads the cause of rule by the people and human dignity and is unwilling to let the people decide—shall we send another A. E. F.? It pleads the cause of democracy and every piece of legislation puts the arm around the internal affairs of the country to crush freedom here, Jones continued.

"Million-Dollar propaganda agencies black out the facts and direct the minds of the American public. Home defense organize men and women to defend the cities—with millions of words. The people little suspect we have no anti-aircraft guns to protect them from bombing," he added.

Many Farmers Obtaining Wheat Loans On '41 Crop

COLUMBUS, Nov. 11.—More than 20,000 Ohio farmers will hold government wheat loans before the Dec. 31 deadline on the 1941 crop. Elmer F. Kruse, state AAA chairman, predicted today.

About 17,000 growers already have obtained loans averaging $1.08 a bushel, a total of $7,500,000.00 or more than 6,000,000 bushels, he added.

The wheat may be stored until April 30, 1942, and turned over to the Commodity Credit Corp. as payment for the loans if market prices do not rise above loan rates. Farmers can liquidate their loans at a profit if market prices above the loan rate, Kruse explained.

Beloit C. E. Group Will Meet Dec. 1

BELOIT, Nov. 11.—Members of the Christian Endeavor society will hold a business meeting Monday evening, Dec. 1, at the home of the Misses Betty and Dorothy Brubaker. Miss Betty Brubaker conducted the devotions at a meeting Monday evening with Miss Georgiana Townsend at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Townsend.

A decision was made to save all Sunday school and religious papers to distribute in the sanitarians and jails. Everett Cobbs, chairman of the social committee, and Stanley Sams were in charge of games.

Refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Oscar Townsend.

Class Program Announced

"Dear Lord, We Thank Thee," will be the program topic at the next meeting of the Queen Esther class. Time and place of meeting will be announced later. Those who will have part in the program are Mrs. Edgar Barcus, who will give a talk on "Our Right as an American Citizen." Mrs. W. D. McBride will speak on "Our Privilege and Opportunity of Being Healthy"; Mrs. Paul Thorsley, "The Common Things of Life"; and Mrs. Homer Cattell, "The Privilege of Worshiping to the Dictates of Our Own Hearts."

Mrs. H. J. Eshler conducted the devotions at the meeting, which was held recently at the home of Mrs. Homer Earley. The topic of the program was "What Shall We Read?" with Mrs. Paul Thorsley and Mrs. Merlin Stanley in charge.

Answe to roll call, telling "Our Favorite Magazine and Why." A discussion was given by each on a magazine.

Letters were read from Miss Freda Cirsberger at Luhu, China, and Mrs. Robert Mosher of Hughesville, Pa.

Mrs. H. J. Eshler resigned as president of the class and Mrs. W. D. McBride, vice president, was named to fill the vacancy. The social hour was in charge of Mrs. Merlin Stanley. A lunch was served by Mrs. Earley, assisted by her two daughters, Miriam and Lois.

Will Visit In Toledo

Mrs. Al Sandquist left Wednesday, Nov. 5, for Toledo, where she will visit her son and daughter-in-law, Att'y and Mrs. James Naylor.

Mr. and Mrs. N. A. Peoples, who have been visiting Mrs. Bonita Boyle and Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Woods for a few weeks, left Monday for their home in Glenwood, Calif.

Mrs. George Heston will entertain members of the T. E. B. club Thursday evening, Nov. 13. Mrs. John Rayburn was a guest when the club was entertained at a masquerade party by Mrs. Charles Best. A prize was awarded Mrs. George Mansell for the funniest costume. Mrs. Lyle Bedell won a prize and Mrs. John Rayburn received the guest prize.

Rural Letter Carriers' association of Mahoning county held its regular meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Orville Sanor on the State rd. Postmaster Cora M. Burns, Superintendent of Mails L. W. Whitney of Salem, and the rural carrier of Beloit attended.

Mrs. Louise Jane Israel, who is a student at Kent State university, is spending the weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Israel and her brother, Billy Israel.

LISBON MAN HURT IN TRAFFIC CRASH

Clyde Aldrich of R. D. 5, Lisbon, coal mine operator, suffered possible internal injuries, fractured ribs and lacerations and bruises of the face in a traffic accident on Route 14, near Deerfield, early this morning.

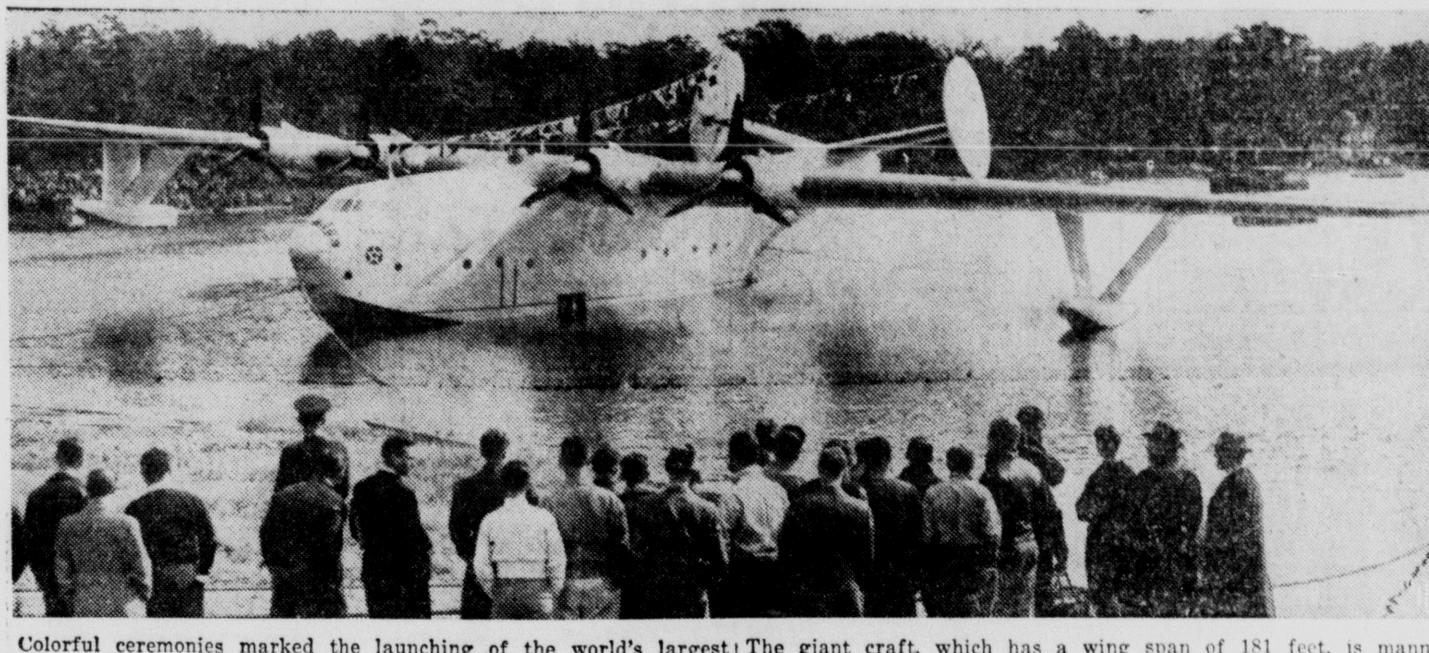

He was admitted to Salem City Hospital at 6 a.m. His condition is described as fair.

Aldrich, who operates a fleet of coal trucks, was enroute north on Route 14 in his own machine, delivering a battery to one of the trucks which had stalled while enroute to Akron.

Coming over the crest of a hill it was learned, Aldrich's car collided with a steel truck which had slid crosswise in the road. The victim's machine was demolished.

The wheat may be stored until April 30, 1942, and turned over to the Commodity Credit Corp. as payment for the loans if market prices do not rise above loan rates. Farmers can liquidate their loans at a profit if market prices above the loan rate, Kruse explained.

AEF DIDN'T GO FAR ENOUGH, SAYS YORK

again. It is many a quarrel, concert, reconciliation, separation and tempest before the two couples get affairs back to normal.

Concluding tonight at the State is "A Yank In the R. A. F." with Tyrone Power, Betty Grable, John Sutton and Reginald Gardiner.

Showing tonight and Wednesday at the Grand are "Nine Lives Are Not Enough," featuring Ronald Reagan, Joan Perry and James Gleason in a yarn about a newspaper cameraman who finds love and murder on his biggest story; and "The Blonde From Singapore," with Leif Ericson, Florence Rice, Gordon Jones and Don Beddoe.

Famed for his single-handed capture of 132 Germans, York said that "we should have gone right through Germany and conquered her."

The 53-year-old Tennessee mountain farmer, here to observe the 23rd anniversary of the armistice that closed the World war, repeated "We should have gone right through Germany and conquered her," adding "and this war never would have happened."

This time, he said, "we are going to have to take Germany off the face of the earth and put all the other little warring nations under a protectorate of the democracies."

He expressed belief Germany's only hope for victory over Britain and Russia lay in her air power.

"But you can drop all the bombs you want to and you can't conquer anything," York went on. "It takes the soldier on the ground to hold it. And they can't get that many hold it. And they can't get that many into England."

"We can get along better without declaring war," he said of his own nation. "We have to get guns, food and equipment to the Allies. That means we have got to deliver it, see that none of it is sunk."

York planned to ride in a parade with Mayor William H. Dress and Irvin Schenk of near Evansville, new president of Future Farmers of America and lay a wreath on the grave of James Bethel Greenham, whose death in action Nov. 3, 1917, in France, was the first in the American expeditionary force.

Dentists In Session

COLUMBUS, Nov. 11.—Dr. William H. ASSAIS FDR IN JAPANESE CRISIS

Taff Accuses President of Balking Peace In Pacific Area

Pacific would succeed. If they fail, he added, and "should the United States become involved in war with Japan, a British declaration will follow within the hour."

Administration supporters dismissed the opposition attacks on Churchill as ill-founded. They contend that Churchill merely had given assurance that Britain would fight on the side of the United States in any Far Eastern conflict.

Emphasize Delicate Situation

The Churchill statement, however, served to emphasize the delicate Pacific situation as Saburo Kurusu, the special Japanese envoy, continued his flying journey to Washington. Kurusu was delayed at Midway island by engine trouble yesterday, and now is expected to reach San Francisco Thursday. His talks with state department officials start next week.

Taff was very doubtful that any adjustment of Japanese-American differences could be reached in the forthcoming conversations. He said that, inasmuch as Japan's proposals already have been rejected, there seemed little chance that any understanding could be worked out with Kurusu.

FARM MUST BE SOLD TO SETTLE AN ESTATE

This farm of 62 acres, located on the Winona paved road, about three miles from Salem in splendid neighborhood. First class seven-room house under slate, modernized with electricity, furnace and bath room installed. Large bank barn has stanchions for about 20 cows, water supplied by electric pump. Other outbuildings include good tile silo, chicken house, tool shed. Abundance of good fruit.

This farm is in tip-top state of cultivation and when the owner operated this farm he carried 20 head of cattle. This speaks well for the farm. It is owned by a widow lady and she can no longer operate it and for this reason we are going to sell this farm.

Owner will consider trading for Salem property at the right price. We are going to price this farm dirt cheap; for this reason whoever has anything to exchange must put in the right price.

Minnesota Climbs Back To First Place In Football Poll

UNBEATEN, UNTIED CASE SEES TOUGH FINISH LOOMING

Injuries hurt Rough Riders, Who Plan Two Games Within Six Days

CLEVELAND, Nov. 11.—Ohio's unbeaten and untied football team has its traditionally good fullback too many injuries and a spinx-like handy man.

And Case School of Applied Science also has two more games in the space of six days, which makes Coach Ray Ride say "it's going to be plenty tough."

Case has always prided itself on its fullbacks. Bob (Moose) Melreit carries on the tradition, and very ably.

The injuries have struck particularly hard at left halfback, which is a tailback job. That's when the handy man comes in, a close-mouthed individual named Bob Lehto, a junior from Ashtabula. He will take over the job left open by Chuck Mlakar and Bill Bennett, both out for the season.

Glenn Konker, senior quarterback with a good passing arm, and Bill Eicher, a sophomore who gains considerable yardage from right half, complete the first string backfield but Case is weak on replacements.

Have Won Six in a Row

The Rough Riders have won six in a row, starting with 33 to Lehigh's 23. It soon became evident Melreit would need a relief man, and Ride searched desperately until the obscure Lehto quietly remarked that he had played three years of fullback in high school. He got the assignment of under-studying Melreit.

Then Left Halfback Mlakar was hurt. To won from Kent State, 7 to 6, Ride used Melreit at left half and put Lehto into the starting fullback position. Melreit had to return to fullback, however, for the 40 to 0 win over Wooster and the tight squeak over John Carroll, 8 to 6.

Against Carnegie Tech Ride wanted some help for Bennett and Eicher, so he tried Lehto at left half. Case won, 27 to 0, and Lehto shone.

Mlakar Tries Comeback

Last Saturday against Baldwin-Wallace, Mlakar attempted a comeback but the first time he tried to carry the ball his injured knee gave way. To make matters worse, Bennett's ankle was broken. But Case won, 35 to 7, chiefly on Konkers' passing and a good line.

Now the quiet handy man, an ex-fullback, has the chief responsibility for the tailback spot. And if anything should happen to Konker, the coach probably could switch Lehto to signal-calling duties.

Ride has no worries about the line.

Next Saturday the Rough Riders go down to Ohio Wesleyan, just recovering from its second defeat in seven starts, a 21 to 0 trimming by Ohio U. If Case can stretch its string of victories at the expense of the Bishops, its Thanksgiving game five days later against Western Reserve will be a football natural, with the Big Four title at stake.

Only Four Major Unbeaten Teams Remain After Week of Upsets

By BILL BONI

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—Fordham's defeat by Pittsburgh and the 7-7 tie to which Texas was held by Baylor had their aftermaths today in the fifth of the weekly football ranking polls conducted by the Associated Press.

The Rains' first loss of the season dropped them right out of the first ten; Texas, though still undefeated, was shoved down to second place, and a full tide of favor swept the Golden Gophers of Minnesota back into the No. 1 position which was awarded them at the beginning of the campaign.

Balls were received this week from 122 football experts all over the country, and 99 of them made Minnesota their first choice. The Gophers, winners of 15 straight games, appear a good bet to finish their second straight season without defeat and also repeat as No. 1 team in the final national ranking.

Only Four Unbeaten Teams

Besides Minnesota, only three other major elevens are undefeated and untied, and all of them made the first ten. Duke, with 11 first-place votes and 844 points, got third place; Fourth went to Texas A. and M., with six and 794, and Duquesne, which ends its season Saturday against undefeated, once-tied Mississippi State, broke into the select group for the first time at tenth place.

Standout game of the week will send Notre Dame and its star sophomore Angelo Bertelli, who has passed for more than 700 yards, against Northwestern and its more versatile sophomore, Otto Graham.

The standing of the teams (first-place votes in parentheses, points figured on 10-9-8-7-6, etc., basis):

First Ten

1—Minnesota (99) 1,187
2—Texas (4) 881
3—Duke (11) 844
4—Texas A. and M. (6) 794

5—Notre Dame 751
6—Stanford 542
7—Michigan 469

8—Northwestern 286 2-3
9—Alabama 237 2-3
10—Duquesne 179

Second ten—11—Fordham, 13-7-2-3; 12—Navy, 120 2-3; 13—Mississippi State (1/2), 111 1-6; 14—Penn, 34 2-3; 15—Mississippi (1/2), 304-2-3; 16—Missouri, 25 2-3; 17—Harvard, 24; 18—Boston College, 15; 19—Army, 10; 20—Ohio State, 9 2-3.

Also ran—Vanderbilt, 7; Washington, 6; Virginia, 4; Temple and Texas Tech, 3; Georgia and Tulane, 2 each; Oklahoma, 1 2-3.

Wins By Decision

TORONTO, Nov. 11.—George Pace of Cleveland lost a unanimous 10-round decision to Bill Speary of Nanticoke, Pa., here last night. Pace weighed 127 1/4 and Speary 126 1/2.

Howell's Football Chatter

By FRITZ HOWELL

COLUMBUS Nov. 11.—It was a long time coming, but an Ohio High school gridiron finally came up last weekend with a 100-yard touchdown run, the longest jaunt of the schoolastic campaign.

Jim McMaken, Piqua Central's fullback, authored the "century" run as he snagged a Dayton Fairmont pass on his own goal line and romped to the other, breaking a 6-6 tie late in the third session. Piqua went on to win, 24 to 12, for its sixth victory in eight starts.

While McMaken was hitting the hall of fame, 10 teams were racking in their eighth straight conquest to Xenia O. S. & S. O. home, which ended its unbeaten-united-uncornered on season early last week.

With eight victories, and the scores of the weekend ties, were: Portsmouth East (6), Portsmouth Central Catholic (0), Chauncey Dover (14), Middleboro (0), Canton Lehman (37), Akron Garfield (0), Cleveland Lincolnwood (33), Cleveland East (0), Cleveland Lincoln (7), Cleveland John Marshall (0), Mifflin (63), Ohio School for Deaf (0), Logan (33), Wellston (0), Leetonia (20), Austinville Fitch (0), Wyoming (13), North College Hill (0), and Martin Ferry (54), Steubenville (6).

Upper Sandusky Plays Today

Bexley, which hadn't been beaten in 16 contests, finally fell by 13-7 before Washington Court House. Upper Sandusky's great team had a chance to get into the "eighth victory" class today as it met Carey in an Armistice day scrap.

With Upper Sandusky idle, the individual scoring race failed to change. Captain Russell (Flying Express) Wolfe of that team holding his one-point edge with 138 over

Portsmouth East's 140-pound Don Reinhardt, who was blanked for the first time this season as his team beat Portsmouth Central Catholic 6 to 0.

Canton, Mansfield Tie

Among the powerhouse elevens, Canton McKinley played a scoreless tie with Mansfield's Tygers, who two weeks ago played a 6-6 deadlock with mighty Massillon. The latter team smothered Toledo Waite 39-7, for its seventh victory against one tie. McKinley lost Jack Crider, star halfback, in the Mansfield game, and a leg injury will keep him out of the big Nov. 22 struggle with Massillon.

Canton Lehman, coached by Jimmy Robinson, proxy of the Ohio High School Coaches association, romped to its eighth straight over Akron Garfield, 37-0, as Jack Lothamer completed nine of 10 passes for 120 yards, and Bud Gray, fullback, gained 212 yards, in 21 ball-carrying attempts.

With eight victories, and the scores of the weekend ties, were: Port
